Subject Open Application

Dear Sir/Madam,

I will like to apply for the Open Application in your company which was advertised on your website, I think that my studies, previous experience, and personal abilities qualify me for this position.

I am well acquainted with, Front-end Development, applications, and systems. And I am passionate using CSS Grid and APIs. I am currently studying Modern Javascript and also React Redux, I will like to be part of your Sustainability "which states Before we do anything, we stop and think about the impact this will make on the social environment" and your Values which states "Make great stuff, Get sh#t done, Go all in, Think about it, challenge ordinary. I am highly motivated in learning new things and I work well in a team environment but am also well suited to taking initiative when needed. My desire while waking up every day is to become a developer that will give out the best to any company that will give me the opportunity to express my passion. I am also open to any position in your company that will fit my level and grows with you by giving in my best efforts.

My ambition is to work in a challenging environment, which offers the ability to grow professionally and intellectually. I think I will be a valuable asset to your company and it will be a delight to contribute to its growth and development on a regional and global scale. I hope my application will be given due consideration. I look forward to hearing from you, Thanks.
